USD ENROLLMENT
SKYROCKETS

AUGUST 21, 1978

The University of San Diego reports an enrollment increase of more than 10 percent for its 1978--79 academic year.

The University expects some 4,000 students to register, an increase of 400 students over the last academic year. Of those 4,000 students, 1,000 are law students, 2,600 are undergraduate students and 400 are graduate students. They will compose the largest student body in the university's history.

"The increase is definitely due to a new awareness in our own community, the innovative programs of the university and the attraction of Southern California," a university spokesperson said.

"A very definite attraction among undergraduates is that if they meet the requirements, they will be given preference over graduates of other schools when applying to USD's law school. The preceptorial program for freshmen, the intermural sports and the personal emphasis aspect of the University of San Diego are definite pluses."

The University of San Diego will be initiating new programs this year. A Master of Law in Taxation and in Criminal Law will be offered at the start of the school year. In January, 1979, the university will introduce a doctorate in education program (Ed.D).

Classes at the university begin Sept. 7. Law school begins Aug. 24.
